About AMMO-PRO:

We began by formulating very high specification products for use in the military and aerospace industries, many of these not generally available.

Being involved in all things two and four wheels we wanted to use our knowledge and expertise to produce a range of products that would satisfy the most critical and discerning enthusiast (and we are some of them!)

We only use cutting edge professional grade chemicals as we will not compromise on performance and quality. What we needed to do was to be able to offer them at a competitive price, hopefully this is what we have achieved!

Developed and trialled over 16 months in conjunction with a number of motorsport teams/clubs and carefully selected companies/enthusiasts.

We don't package AMMO in aerosols, instead we prefer to give our customers product instead of propellant! Generally 2-3 times more for your money. We offer very economical re-loads for many of our products where original containers can be re-used many times. The majority of our ranges are biodegradable so are safe to use in most environments.

Maximum performance at a very competitive price.
Developed and trialled in action as well as in a laboratory!

Aerospace/Military grade technical specification.
Developed, trialled and manufactured in the UK.
